"There is something irreplaceable in the relationship between man and a woman who commit to each other in love and who remain open to the transmission and the nurturing of human life"

"It is also true that no person exists who is not the fruit of a male and a female. Even if it were possible to clone a child, that child would still bear the genetic imprint of a male and a female. Genetic parentage is not irrelevant."

THIRD SUNDAY OF EASTER

19th April 2015

In today's readings the focus is repentance, conversion and the avoidance of sin. Sin separates us from God and the glory he won for us.
We should feel the light and warmth of the resurrection.

The resurrection should take place in the life of each Christian.

The gospel calls us to share the Christian message with the people we
